that this is no ordinary clearance sale you have seen advertised so often and offering you only brokers' odd lots. The entire $50,000 stock is thrown to the mercies of the people at a tremendous sacrifice to close out a greater part in nine days. We are advised that William Bendiner has placed his stock in charge of F. E.
Wright, merchandise adjustor, of Minneapolis, Minn., with instructions to go the limit, place his own prices on the stock regardless of cost or loss. A short talk with Mr. Wright, who tells us he is not here to waste words, "I am here to close out a greater part of this stock. I don't care how fed up you are on so-called sales, or how disappointed you have been with some of the bargains you have bought. I know that I can make it very interesting for everybody." Mr. Bendiner has given me "carte blanche" to go the limit. The only disappointed ones will be the few who stay away." We are advised that the store will be closed Tuesday and Wednesday, arranging and marking down stock, and the doors will open Thursday morning, June 8, at 9 o'clock, sharp—advertisement.

FOUNDATIONS OF PROSPERITY.

(Pittsburg Gazette Times)

A good many people will have difficulty in following Charles M. Schwab's business philosophy as he outlined it at a dinner of South Bend citizens. But on reflection appears sound. At any rate there can be no disputing the facts of the situation. Mr. Schwab said that "the industrial depression is the best thing that ever happened in the United States" ending as it did a 10-year period of growing costs and uneconomical operations. It is obvious that "we must build a new industrial fabric on a basis of economy." That is just what is being accomplished through the constructive work in no sense voluntary or agreeable on the part of any but the more enlightened. As to the necessity of the change, Mr. Schwab predicts that unless we American manufacturers take our positions on the lines I have outlined Germany will reap the benefits of the war because Germany is organized industrially as never before; and the German workmen are willing to give a full day's work for a day's pay.

It may be remarked that the Germans are compelled to do this or go under. It is none the less true that others must do likewise or suffer the consequences of their greed. Germany cannot supply the world's want, but if Germany's competitors give her a chance she will control the markets. The economists which Mr. Schwab declares, are indispensable for low costs of production through efficiency of operations. The country that can offer goods at the most attractive prices will have an advantage in being able to choose its customers. For us the essential is an industrial readjustment on the basis of services of value equal with the compensation received. The better the service the higher the pay will be. The wider our markets the more jobs there will be. The sooner this is realized by all the sound will the business depression be brought to an end. On the upward swing that assuredly will follow the country will achieve a degree of prosperity far more substantial than that which we have had in recent years.

FISH PIRATES.

Harrisburg Telegraph

The salty sentences meted out to 15 pirates in the vicinity recently meet the approval of all law abiding citizens. The man who takes bass or other game fish out of season is as bad in his way as the gunner who also game during the period of legal protection. Both are of the hog type and unworthy of the name of sportsman.

Just what fun there can be in smoking a few bass out of the gourmets ahead of time, hiding them away from all eyes on the way home, throwing them in the darkness of the car, freezing them in secret and eating them with tea and trembling is impossible to which the last state alone appears to have the answer.

We are coming into a new period of fish propagation and regulation in this state. Beginning January 1 we shall pay a fish license fee of $10 each and this accumulated fund ought to give the Department of Fisheries ample money with which to properly patrol the streams and to stock the water in a really adequate way. Just now there are those who feel that the license law will work a hardship but it is not nearly so unpopular as it was a few years back when first proposed and it is generally believed that it will be as readily accepted as the hunters license act once its virtues in the way of strict regulation and increased fish supply become apparent.

American Aid in China Praised

Special to The Courier.
NEW YORK, June 7.—Commissioner W. F. McLoughlin, international secretary of the Salvation Army on his way to his home in England, after a study of famine conditions in North China, today spoke in high praise of the work of Americans in the famine field, just before sailing on the Olympic.

There is no doubt but that the Americans there in the stricken provinces do get the work done," he said. "Whatever we may say of our British work, the Americans certainly do get theirs out. It was none too warm when I left in April, but the Americans actually had their coats on and were at it in their shirt sleeves. They were working zealously and very long hours."

"In Tsinanfu the Salvation Army is assisting regularly more than 18,000 men, women and children. Each person is given two meals of cooked meat a day. It is at Peking, however, that the greatest number of our Army people are at work about 100 being engaged in relief work there.

In both places all the starving folk who can be reached are being cared for, and that by two thousand other districts who other organizations are in charge of distribution.

But this does not mean that scores of thousands haven't died of starvation or that scores of thousands will not die in future. It does mean that because of the generosity of those who have contributed money and service in aid of the sufferers, some 7,000,000 destitute have been saved.

All the agencies are cooperating in a most remarkable way. The work has been so systematic that there is no duplication anywhere. And in several districts the strong among the famine victims have been put on big projects such as road building by the American Red Cross, making it impossible in those places for there to be again such conditions as those we witnessed.

Why people walked as far as 100 miles to our center at Tsinan and many miles completely exhausted is an uncommon thing, for them to do as our workers were hauling their food and men died in our work this year.

As I was walking in April people in the famine districts blessed the men with promising crops were beginning to pluck and eat the immature grain. And at all the railroad centers there were great crowds. Some of these people were still living their homes in search of food and others were trying to make their way back. They were dazed and desperate, they would jump at the first train when the trains were moving rapidly and the number of the poor no countables who were killed or maimed was appalling.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache, and inability to retain tonics, are probably nine out of ten, of stomach trouble. The cause is irritation and acid taking place in the stomach causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that tell-tale oppressive burning feeling so well known as heartburn while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble may continue in the excess development of secretion of acids.

To stop this painful this souring of the stomach consists of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Bismarck Magnesia is good and effective corrector of acid stomach. Should be taken in a glass of water, but should wait after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This softens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is perfectly harmless and inexpensive.

An antacid, such as Bismarck Magnesia which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of stimulants, which are often used in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bismarck Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose. —Advertisement.

NEURASTHENIA— NERVE STARVATION

A Disease of the Down Hearted—Practical advice on what to do.

Many a man is broken down and disabled by neurasthenia because of actual disease in his organs and tissues—he has lost his grip, feels weak and nervous and everything looks dark. He is suffering from the great American disease—Neurasthenia or nerve starvation, due to overwork, worry, constipation, bad nerves and nervous strain. The fever this continues the more certainly will it end in real disease of his organs, his nerves or his mind.

Such a man needs a change of air, a diet of cooked fruits and green vegetables, two or three hours at night sleep, an hour in the afternoon and feed his nervous and weak body with a good, strong, easily digested food, like Nutriton from Nutriton Iron contains a product brought to the attention of the French Academy, which researches into the secret constituents of active living nerve force; it also contains genuine organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in your lean meat and apples.

Nutriton iron must therefore be said to be a real nerve and blood food since it supplies the principal ingredients demanded by your nerves and muscles to give you strength, energy, force and endurance. It often increases the bodily and mental vigor of work, weakens down hearted and nervous folks in two weeks time. Your money will be refunded if Nutriton does not give you perfect health and satisfactory results.

DAVID RAFF

250 North 59th St., Philadelphia, Pa.
recently. Mr. Raff has lived in Philadelphia all his life and is well known and highly respected.

"My health was all broken up," he explained. "My stomach was all out of order and gave me so much trouble that I actually dreaded to go to the table. I would simply rather go without eating than suffer the awful misery I knew would follow. I would blow up so with gas that my heart would beat, terrific rate and it seemed sometimes I was being smothered to death. I just had to fight for my breath. My nerves were all undone, I slept poorly and was all the time having headaches that were almost blinding. I lost weight and felt so weak and run-down all over I could hardly do any work."

"Something ago a good friend of mine told me he knew Taniac would help me and he spoke so positive about it that I took his advice. And I can say right now that Taniac is the first medicine I ever saw that will do exactly what they say it will. Two bottles have the same as made me all over again. I can eat anything I ever could in my life and have gained 15 pounds in weight. I'm no more nervous than a child, sleep fine and it just makes me feel happy to be enjoying such good health. Taniac certainly is a great medicine."—Advertisement.

At the TheatresTHE SOISSON.

"THE OATH"—A First National picture, starring Miriam Cooper and Conway Tearle, is the feature attraction today. Belief is growing in London that Hugh Colman, the young lawyer charged with the murder of Israel Hart, the wealthy Jewish banker, is facing the charge which may cost him his life, rather than betray a woman. The strongest point against the prisoner is his refusal to explain whereabouts at the time the murder was committed, and rumor has it that such an explanation would involve the good name of a well-known society woman. The trial has been set for next week despite the continued serious illness of Miss Anna Hart, the only daughter of the victim. The crown prosecutor has announced that her testimony is not vital to the case against the prisoner. While little is known of the plans for the defense it is inconceivable that the daughter of the murderer's victim would be called by his counsellors. Although the public did not know it, Anna Hart was the only person in the world who could honestly save Hugh Colman. The events leading up to the reasons for Colman's silence, and the result of it, make the dramatic story of "The Oath."

Tomorrow, Friday and Saturday "Don't Neglect Your Wife" will be shown.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"COLD STEEL"—A five-reel picture of intense interest and a selected comedy are being shown today. The former picture features an all-star cast and will appeal to all patrons of the theatre.

Friday and Saturday "The Killer" will be shown.

THE ORPHEUM.

"A FULL HOUSE"—A Paramount photocomedy, with Bryant Washburn in a delightful role, is being shown today. Love letters of another man, stolen jewels and a bride of a day who is heartbroken because her hubby presumably has deceived her, and other interesting developments contributed to make Mr. Washburn's latest picture a delightful entertainment. Mr. Washburn is irresistible as George Howell, a newly-wed. He gets in and out of trouble in a manner that makes the laughs continuous while he is on the screen. Lois Wilson is charming as the young bride whose heart is broken when she discovers that her husband of a day apparently is a thief. Practically all of the action takes place in the five rooms of the Flemming home. "Rapid-fire" would be the term—especially when the police take a hand with an Irish cop at the door who says: "You can come in but you can't get out!" In minor characters Guy Milian, Hazel Howell, Vera Lewis, Catherine Wallace, Little Williams, John Wild, Z. Wall Covington and Frank Jonasson do work that splendidly supplements the laugh-making stars of the star. The picture was recently directed by James Cruze. Tomorrow Bebe Daniels will be seen in "Drakes and Ducks."

Authorities Try To Oust New Bug Come From Cuba

By Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., June 8.—"Bugologists" here have discovered a new bug, one not uncommon in the tropics, but according to G. F. Monette, entomologist in charge of the federal experiment station here, one never before seen in the United States. It is the xylo-toridus luteolus and the visitor has journeyed all the way from Cuba to sample the quality of the tender shoots of the royal palm here.

Because it has "sucking" insect and feeds upon the leaves of the trees Mr. Monette considers the bug an undesirable citizen and war already has been declared. The defenders are attempting to repel the invader with a spray composed of one part of nicotine sulphate and 1,000 parts of water. The insect is yellow and an adult specimen is about one-half inch in length.

"This is the first record of a xylo-toridus luteolus in this country," said Mr. Monette. "The insect was recently described in Cuba by Barber, with the host plant given as oreodoxa. Its identity was determined by Herbert Osborne of the Ohio State university. Until it was found here last year none was aware of its existence in this country. It makes the new small shoots of the royal palm trees dry up and look unsightly."

Back of this new standard of prices is a bit of history. Last September the Franklin cut its price drastically. A remarkable sales record followed. For months past Franklin business has required normal capacity production. Since December last, there has not been on hand at the factory at any one day, more than three days' production of cars.

This favorable situation has effected economies which make possible the present revision, thereby creating a new opportunity for purchasers, and again emphasizing the proven advantages of Franklin performance.

INDEPENDENTS TO PLAY J. B. KIRLEYS OF SMOKY CITY HERE ON SATURDAY

Opponents Are Rated to Be Much Stronger Than Malone Organization.

LUTHERANS LOSE GAME

The J. B. Kirby baseball team, the next opponent on the Connellsville Independents schedule of Saturday, is rated as another strong aggregation. The team hails from Mount Oliver section of the Smoky City and has as a leader Jack Coyne, a veteran who has often tossed the pilot on Fayette Field, during the P. O. M. league days. The recent game with the Malones shows conclusively how anxious are the visiting teams to "knock off" the locals. When the Kirby club was announced as the attraction Saturday by Empire Warrik at that time the Malones were in a hole and the visiting manager, Davey Roberts, called over to the Connellsville bench—"If we (the Malone team) can't beat you, look out for the Kirleys. They will win over your town easily."

The Kirleys are playing good ball throughout Ohio, where they are always in demand. Coyne in a recent letter to the local management expressed the opinion that his team would be a far harder aggregation to down than the Malones, so from the surface look of things, fandoms is in for another ball treat.

Three Team League Looks Like a Go

Following a meeting of the managers of the Connellsville Independents, the Young Valley Independents and the Whitney team here last night, it was announced prospects were bright for the formation of a Fayette-Westmoreland county league. The Whitney and Coker managements are in complete accord but the Young Valley organization desires to give the subject more study. Young Valley is faced with a somewhat different position in regard to finances than are the other two teams.

A schedule, to begin after the Fourth of July, has been tentatively drawn up. The league would mean Wednesday baseball.

The Young Valley Independents play the strong Uniontown Independents on the Y. M. C. grounds at Dickerson Run Saturday. On Friday, June 17 they will tackle the Pittsburgh collegians, one of the Smoky City's strongest teams.

Lutherans Lose To M. P. Outfit

The Lutherans were hit hard by the Methodist Protestant aggregation last night and lost 7-2, in the church league. Each team scored twice in the opening inning but in the fourth the M. P. batters junched on Straw for three tallies and in each of the succeeding frames added one point.

A meeting of the board of control of the league was held at the Baltimore & Ohio "X" last night when "ringers" were discussed. It was determined a man must play for the church which he attends and that all team managers must submit lists of their players to the league manager for approval not later than June 13. The list will then be certified by the ministers who will determine the eligibility of a player.

Boxing Notes

"Buck" Krouse, the Broad Ford battler, who was offered a bout with Terrell Duncan to take place at Uniontown on the 17th, will be unable to accept. One of the members of his family is in poor health and it is impossible for him to train for any bouts at this time.

It has been suggested to Tony Bell, the promoter of the bouts in Uniontown which take place this Friday week, that he use Johnny Pollock, the Dawson sensation, to fill the gap made by Krouse's withdrawal. Pollock has a vast following in this section who undoubtedly would make the trip to the county seat to see him again in action.

Arrangements are under way by the Fayette Athletic club to put on a boxing show at Shriver's hall on the night of July 4. The club's new matchmaker, Paul H. Barnes, is after Eddie Wimber, the Fairhaven battler and a hot Connellsville favorite, to appear in the star bout of 10 rounds against a good opponent yet to be selected.

The Cornell Athletic association has appointed J. B. Bangs to assist Jack Monkley in developing men for field events. In college Bangs was a championship hammer and discus man.

THREE THOUSAND DOLLAR FIREWORKS DISPLAY SATURDAY

American-Italian Company Plans One for Fayette Field in Order That Notoriety Pictures May Be Made.

Connellsville people will this week have the opportunity of witnessing what is considered to be the largest and most spectacular fireworks exhibition ever planned in the history of the American-Italian Fireworks company of Dunbar. This big spectacular will be held at Fayette Field Saturday night, June 11, beginning at 9:30 o'clock. Officials of the company say it will be the best ever shown in Fayette county.

Arrangements have been made to have the spectacular exhibition filmed for the movies.

The American-Italian Fireworks company has secured contracts this year to furnish exhibitions to a great number of western and Pacific coast fairs. These fairs are great expositions and owing to the fact that they need advertising matter, the local company has been asked to furnish cutouts, electrotypings and other illustrative material. For this reason and in order that the above mentioned things may be secured the fireworks company was forced to stage its biggest display of fireworks and have it filmed.

Allegheny College Endowment Fund at Half Million Mark

PITTSBURGH, June 7.—With the total subscriptions close to $500,000, hopes for the Second Century Endowment of Allegheny college, Meadville, ultimately reaching $1,250,000, have been stimulated. While not even the half way mark has been reached, contributions increase daily and Dr. Fred W. Hixson, president of the college, and the "Committee of 100" and other workers have no intention of letting up in their efforts until the goal is attained.

One of the bright incidents of the campaign was that reported yesterday of a man who gave up plans to purchase an automobile when campaign workers visited him, turning over to them a check for $1,000, with which he had intended to buy the machine. This contributor graduated from Allegheny four years ago.

Another unusual subscription came from an alumnus who has taught in a normal school since graduation. Unsolicted, his subscription came in the mail to the endowment headquarters. He reserves the money until the death of himself and his wife, at which time it will be turned over to the college.

The first big gift from a Pittsburgher was from a man believed to be an alumnus but who is yet to be identified. By registered mail he sent three $1,000 Liberty bonds, but did not enclose his name.

One generous contribution resulted from a friendship made by President Emeritus W. H. Crawford nine years ago. A high school graduate, desiring to work his way through Allegheny college, was employed by the head of the institution at odd times to do clerical work. By this means he was able to complete a course and he expressed his gratitude by the subscription.

Leading the subscriptions is that of the General Education Board, a conditional gift of $150,000. This amount will be appropriated when the other contributions aggregate $1,000,000. The student body, with "100 per cent" the slogan has pledged $9,000, and the faculty $17,000. Citizens of Meadville, now of the college, excluding those connected with the school, have given $135,288.

The appeal for aid in the campaign has been sent out to all parts of the country through the "Committee of 100," of which A. W. Thompson, president of the Philadelphia company, is chairman. It is not the plan of the college to attempt any expansion at this time, the money being necessary for the upkeep of the school. General headquarters for the campaign are in the Union Arcade, 521 Grant street, Pittsburgh, in charge of Dr. Paul Weyand.

U. S. TUBES

The same standard of quality built into U. S. Tires is put into U. S. Tubes.

Why some men seem to have all the tire luck —

YOU probably know a man whose car is a hobby with him. He knows just why it's the best little old car there is of its class.

And he'll stand up for that car against the world in any kind of an argument.

Year by year an increasing number of men feel the same way about U. S. Tires.

For a while they may try "job lot" stuff, "bargains," "big discounts" and "rebates."

But usually it doesn't take long for a man to sense the economy of the standard quality tire.

For years U. S. Tire makers have been building quality tires for sane tire users—for the car of medium or light weight no less than for the heavy car.

The tire buyers of the land have responded with a mighty U. S. Tire following.

The U. S. Tire makers meet the responsibility for supplying this nationwide following with characteristic energy.

Ninety-two U. S. Factory Branches are established, covering the entire country.

Find the U. S. Tire dealer with the complete line of fresh, live U. S. Tires—quality first, and the same choice of size, tread and type as in the biggest cities of the land.

"Find the U. S. Tire dealer with the complete line of fresh, live U. S. Tires."

5 MAN FOR THE AGES

A STORY OF THE BUILDERS OF DEMOCRACY

IRVING BACHELIER

Copyright Irving Bacheller

"It'll be nine o'clock by the time you're washed and dressed," I says. "Well, I declare," says he, "I've had about sixteen hours of solid sleep. The world looks better to me this morning."

"At the table I told him a story and got a little laugh out of him. He stayed with me three weeks, chafing around the place and taking it easy. He read all the books I had, until you and Doc Allen came with the law books. Then he pitched into them, I think he has changed a good deal since Ann died. He talks a lot about God and the hereafter."

In October young Mr. Lincoln returned to his surveying, and in the last month of the year to Vandalia for an extra session of the legislature, where he took a stand against the convention system of nominating candidates for public office. Samson went to Vandalia for a visit, with Ann, and to see the place before the session ended. The next year, in a letter to his brother, he says:

"Vandalia is a small, crude village. It has a strong flavor of whisky, profanity and tobacco. The night after I got there I went to a banquet with Abe Lincoln. Heard a lot about the dan nigger-loving Yankees who were trying to ruin the state and country with abolition. There were some stories like those we used to hear in the lumber camp, and no end of powerful talk in which the names of God and the Savior were roughly handled. A few of the statesmen got drunk and after the dinner was over two of them jumped on the table and danced down the whole length of it, shattering plates and cups and saucers and glasses. Nobody seemed to be able to stop them. I hear that they had to pay several hundred dollars for the damage done. You will be apt to think that there is too much liberty here in the West, and perhaps that is so, but the fact is these men are not half so bad as they seem to be. Lincoln tells me that they are honest, almost to a man, and sincerely devoted to the public good as they see it. I asked Abe Lincoln, who all his life has associated with rough-tongued, drinking men, how he managed to hold his own course and keep his talk and habits so clean."

"Why, the fact is," said he, "I have associated with the people who lived around me only part of the time, but I have never stopped associating with myself and with Washington and Clay and Webster and Shakespeare and Burns and Defoe and Scott and Shakespeare and Parsons. On the whole, I've been in pretty good company."

"He has not yet accomplished much in the legislature. I don't think that he will until some big issue comes along. I'm not much of a hand at hunting squirrels," he said to me the other day. "Wolf did I see a bear?" The bear of Vandalia and Springfield people never seen him yet. They don't know him as I do. But they all respect him—just for his good-fellowship, honesty and decency. I guess that every fellow with a front mouth hates himself for it and envies the man who isn't like him. They begin to see his skill not as a politician, which has shown itself in the passage of a bill removing the capital to Springfield. Abe Lincoln was the man who put it through. But he has not yet uncovered his best talents. Mark my word, some day Lincoln will be a big man."

"The death of his sweetheart has grieved and sobered him. When we are together he often sits looking down with a sad face. For a while not a word out of him. Suddenly he will begin saying things, the effect of which will go with me to my grave, although I cannot call back the words and silence them as he did. He is what I would call a great captain of words. Now as if I heard the hand playing while they marched by me as well dressed and stepping as proud and regular as the Boston Guards. In some great battle between Right and Wrong you will hear from him. I hope it may be the battle between Harvey and Preston, although at present he thinks they must avoid running to a clinch. In my opinion it cannot be done. I expect to live to see the Right and to take part in it."

Late in the session of 1860-1861 the popular truth of these words began to reveal itself. A bill was being put through the legislature disengaging the growth of abolition sentiment and its activity in organized societies and upholding the right of property in slaves. Suddenly Lincoln said again to a rock in the road. Popularity, the urge of many friends, the counsel of wealth and power, and public opinion, the call of good politics pointed in one direction and the crowd went that way. It was a stampede. Lincoln stood alone at the corner. The crowd backed, but in vain. One man came back and joined him. It was Dan Stone, who was not a candidate for re-election. His political career was ended. There were three words on the sign-board pointing toward the perils and lonely road that Lincoln proposed to follow. They were the words Justice and Human Rights. Lincoln and Dan Stone took that road in protest, declaring that they believed the institution of slavery was founded upon injustice and bad policy. Lincoln had followed his conscience, instead of the crowd.

At twenty-eight years of age he had already passed the great danger point in his career. The Declaration of Independence, the judge, the Douglass

"I have sold my farm," said Samson to his old friend the evening of his arrival.

"Did you get a good price?" Mr. Lincoln asked.

"All that my conscience would allow me to take," said Samson. "The man offered me three dollars an acre in cash and ten dollars in notes. We compromised on seven dollars, all cash."

"What are you going to do now that you have sold out?"

"I was thinking of going up to Tazewell county."

"Why don't you go to the growing and prosperous town of Springfield?" Mr. Lincoln asked.

"The capital will be there, and so will I. It is going to be a big city. Men who are to make history will live in Springfield. You must come and help. I shall need your friendship, your wisdom and your sympathy. I shall want to sit often by your fireside. You'll find a good school there for the children. If you'll think of it seriously I'll try to get you into the public service."

"We need you plenty," Samson answered. "We kind of think of you as one of the family. I'll talk it over with Sarah and see. Never mind the job. If I can't keep behavin' yourself, I'll be job enough. Anyways, I guess we can manage to get along."

"I've had a talk with Stuart and have some good news for Harry and Jim," said young Mr. Lincoln. "Stuart thinks she can get a divorce under the law of 1827. I suppose they are still interested in each other."

"He's like most of the Yankees. Once he gets set, it's hard to change him. The Kelsoes have moved to Chicago and don't know how Jim stands. If Harry knows, he hasn't said a word to us about it."

"I'm interested in that little romance," said the legislator. "It's our duty to do what we can to secure the happiness of these young lovers. Tell Harry to come over here. I want to talk with him."

CHAPTER XVIII.

In Which Mr. Lincoln, Samson and Harry Take a Long Ride Together and the Latter Visits the Flourishing Little City of Chicago.

Mr. Lincoln had brought the papers which Harry was to take to Jim, and made haste to deliver them. The boy was eager to be off on his mission. The elder were soon. The new buyer was coming to take possession in two weeks. Samson and Harry had finished their work in New Salem.

"I've Been Cloyed on House Air and Oratory and Future Greatness."

"Wait till tomorrow and maybe I'll get with ye," said Samson. "I'm anxious to take a look at that little mushroom city of Chicago."

"And buy a few corner lots?" Abe asked, with a smile.

"No; I'll wait till next year. They'll be cheaper then. I believe in Chicago, it's placed right on the waterway to the north and east, with good country on three sides and transportation on the other. It can go into partnerships with Steam Power right away and begin to do business. Your train and pork can go straight from there to Albany and New York and Boston and Baltimore without being rehandled. When railroad comes—it they ever do—Steam Power will be shoving grain and meat and passengers into Chicago from every point of the compass."

Abe Lincoln turned to Sarah and said: "This is a growing country. You ought to see the cities springing up there in the legislature. I was looking with great satisfaction at the crop when Samson came along one day and fell on it. He was like a frost in midsummer."

"The seed was sown too early," Samson rejoined. "You and I may live to see all the dreams of Vandalia come true."

"And all the nightmares, too," said the young statesman.

"Yes, we're going to wake up and find a cold morning and not much to eat in the house and the wolf at the door, but we'll live through it."

Then the young statesman proposed:

"If you are going with Harry, I'll go along and see what they've done on the Illinois and Michigan canal. Some contractors who worked on the Erie canal will start from Chillicothe Monday to look the ground over and bid on the construction of the southern end of it. I want to talk with them when they come along down the line."

"I guess a few days in the saddle would do you good," said Samson.

"I reckon it would. I've been closed up on house air and oratory and future greatness. The prairie wind and your pessimism will straighten me up."

Harry rode to the village that afternoon to get "Colonel" and Mrs. Lukins to come out to the farm and stay with Sarah while he and Samson were away.

Josiah, now a sturdy boy of thirteen, stood in the doorway, holding the two saddle pointers from Nebraska which Samson had bought of a draper, Betsey, a handsome young miss almost fifteen years old, stood beside him. Sarah, whose face had begun to show the wear of years full of loneliness and hard work, was packing the saddle-bags, now nearly filled with extra socks and shirts and doughnuts and bread and butter.

They met Abe Lincoln at the tavern, where he was waiting on a big horse which he had borrowed for the trip from James Rutledge. Without delay, the three men set out on the north road in perfect weather. From the hill's edge they could look over a wooded plain running far to the east.

As they rode on, the young statesman repeated a long passage from one of the sermons of Dr. William Ellery Channing on the "Instability of Human Affairs."

"I wish that I had your memory," Samson remarked.

"My memory is like a piece of metal," said the young legislator. "Learning is not easy for me. It's rather slow work—like engraving with a tool. But when a thing is once printed on my memory it seems to stay there. It doesn't rub out. When I run across a great idea, well expressed, I like to put it on the wall of my mind where I can live with it. In this way every man can have his own little art gallery and be in the company of great men."

They forded a creek in deep water, where a bridge had been washed away.

As they came out dripping on the farther shore, Lincoln remarked:

"The thing to do is to ford a deep stream in to keep watch o' your horse's ears. As long as you can see 'em you're all right."

"Mr. Lincoln, I'm sorry—you got into a hole," said Samson.

"I don't mind that, but while we're traveling together, please don't call me 'Mr. Lincoln.' I don't think I've done anything to deserve such lack of respect."

Reports from Honolulu are that baseball never had such a boom.
